Dear Friend,

Thank you for your gift

As you well know, sitting down every evening for a family meal is an important way for a family to connect. Everyone gets to go around the table and talk about their day. That's so important because those conversations let them know that someone's listening, someone is there for them, and someone cares.

Whether it's sitting down to dinner, getting ready for a day at school, working on homework or simply helping around the house, our kids learn what being part of a family is all about.

Every child deserves a family and a safe place to call home. Your gift makes a difference in the lives of children who have nowhere else to go.

Thank you for giving our children that second chance at being a kid.

God's Blessings,

Father Steven E. Boes
National Executive Director

P.S. As a thank you for supporting Boys Town kids, we want to give you exclusive access to our new Grandparenting Principles free email series! Once a week for four weeks, you'll receive advice and strategies, plus a teaching activity for you and your grandchild.
